

Indiana's Do-Not-Call List is an example of government functioning for the benefit of the constituents that have elected that government. This is the best, if not extremely overdue, law I can think of ever enacted for the 'people'. This law should never be tampered with, should never be rescinded, and should never be twisted for the benefit of those who would seek to manipulate you and I for their own selfish purposes!!! I applaud the state attorney general's office for doing a great thing for the people!
